Deep Red Biography 2005

Deep Red was formed in the winter of 2003 by Nate Boettcher (At the time: Guitar, Bass in the band Legion) and Mark Eineichner (Drums in Legion). Strongly influenced by all styles of extreme & traditional metal, the band recorded a three-song EP CD. This EP entitled "Immaculate" is being circulated throughout the international metal underground and is receiving a great response. This EP is getting the band some great exposure as well as an excellent review/interview in OUI "Adult Magazine" & a short blog in Terrorizer among many others. Some label interest followed all of this, Deep Red is currently soliciting interested labels as they write their first full length and await the recording and release an "Official" recording.

Deep Red's lineup was solidified early in 2004. Nathan (ex Black Funeral-live vocals, Legion), Mark (ex-ESP, Legion), and Jake (Legion, ex-KTWMD) decided to take their band Legion to the next level. This would require a major lineup makeover, new name, different direction and somewhat of a new musical style. Matthew Szymik (The Mourning After) was added on bass, and Tim Linsmeyer (ex-KTWMD-drums) was added on rhythm guitar. The band completed the EP "Immaculate" with this lineup. Shortly after Szymik was asked to leave the band due to personal/musical differences and was replaced with Jason Lyon to fulfill the bassist duties. In March 2005 Tim Linsmeyer passed away in a fatal car accident. Jason was shifted to guitar and Nathan took over Bass duties along with his vocals. Deep Red has been going full speed ahead since writing and playing shows since the release of Immaculate.

Countless live shows with MACABRE, Enforsaken, Disinter, Waco Jesus, Anal Blast, Demonicon, Terratism, Eternal Silence, The Heavils, N.S.O.A., and many more, have also helped spread the word of Deep Red. Deep Red has also had several offers to do some European shows alongside comrades Dark Funeral, Ancient, and The Project Hate but has yet to make the trip over due to financing though they hope to in the future.
